The 24 Hour Knight – No man is too busy to be an active Knight of Columbus. In fact, by giving just 24 hours a year to Knights of Columbus activities, a man can make an enormous difference. With just 24 hours, a man can serve his parish, help those in need in his local community, grow in his faith and protect his family through our exclusive, top-rated insurance program. What does the average Knight do with 24 hours? He will spend:
 -8 Hours with his council on charitable projects for his church or community
 -4 Hours enjoying a Knights of Columbus family event
 -4 Hours attending council meetings to help plan future activities
 -6 Hours (30 minutes per month) reading Columbus magazine and other K of C publications, includingkofc.org
 -1 Hour discussing his family’s insurance needs with a Knights of Columbus field agents
 -1 hour attending Mass with his council
 If that is what can be done with the hours of just one day, imagine what a Knight could do with all the hours in a week. Contact: Mike Ciampoli at 215-605-2857 or mikeciampoli@gmail.com monthly stipend. For more information, please contact Karen Hickey at 609-605-8020.

This Week with the Saints

SPIRITUAL REFLECTIONS

Sunday, July 30 – St. Peter Chrysologus, Bishop and Doctor of the Church – Since his nickname means “golden-worded,” it is not surprising that this bishop of Ravenna was widely known for his brief but inspiring homilies.

Monday, July 31 – St. Ignatius of Loyola, Priest, Memorial - After years as a courtier and soldier, Ignatius underwent a personal conversion and dedicated himself to the religious life. He founded the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits) to serve the pope. His works on spirituality continue to assist the faithful in developing their spiritual lives.

Tuesday, August 1 – St. Alphonsus Mary Liguori, Bishop and Doctor of the Church – Both a civil and a canon lawyer, Alphonsus Mary Liguori founded the Redemptorist Order. He is noted for his excellent writings on prayer and moral theology.

Wednesday, August 2 – St. Eusebius of Vercelli, Bishop – As bishop, Eusebius established monastic life in his diocese and worked to defend the faith from those who denied its truths.

Friday, August 4 – St. John Mary Vianney, Priest, Memorial – Known as the Cure of Ars, John Mary Vianney is the patron saint of parish priest. Even during his life, he was widely acclaimed for his good counsel in hearing confessions and for his excellent preaching.

Riddles, Questions, and the Long Reach

What is the pearl of great price, the treasure in the field, the fish worth keeping? We all know the right answer: God. To get at the real answer, we might ask ourselves, “What’s most important? What do I want so badly it aches?”

The parent might respond with the name of a child, the lover thinks of the beloved, the artist or craftsperson of the next project, the businessperson of a promotion, the naturalist of stream and meadow.

Here’s the catch: what if the right answer and the real answer are one and the same? Isn’t God big enough to encompass it all? If our loves and longings spring from the deepest, best self, then they are part and parcel of the God-spark, Christ within.

The God-planted joy in it all gives permanence. So if the beloved dies, the children eventually leave home, the career derails, the meadow becomes a parking lot, or the project ends, something vital remains. Through the enduring happiness, memory, or sense of completion, God leaves a lasting mark.

Jesus’ genius is communicating these subtle, hard-to-define truths in symbols, not laws or abstractions. The symbol is elastic enough to hold polarities and concrete enough for the youngest to grasp, at least a bit. It sounds like a riddle: What do pearls, fields, and fish have in common? They all get us thinking, questioning, reaching for God whose hidden presence hovers tantalizingly close. Without God, we have nothing. Having God, we have everything. Maybe we’re never without.
