Memorial Day Prayer

God of power and mercy,

You destroy war and put down earthly pride.
Banish violence from our midst and wipe away our tears,
that we may all deserve to be called your sons and daughters.

Keep in your mercy those men and women who have died in the cause of freedom and bring them safely
into your kingdom of justice and peace.
We ask this through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Blessed Among Us

Sr. Ursula Ledochowska – Founder, Grey Ursulines (1865-1939) Julia Ledochowska was born into a remarkable Polish family. Her younger brother became provincial superior of the Jesuits in Poland, while a younger sister, founder of the Sodality of St. Peter Claver, was beatified in 1975. In 1886 Julia entered the Ursuline Order and assumed the religious name of the order's patron saint. She spent the next twenty-one years in the convent in Krakow. In 1907 she was among several sisters sent to St. Petersburg to run a boarding school for girls. From there, after the outbreak of World War I, she moved to Stockholm and Denmark, where she established a school for girls and helped with war refugees.

With the establishment of an independent Polish republic she and her sisters returned to Poland. There, with support from Rome, she established a separate Ursuline congregation known as the Grey Ursulines, who combined education with work among the poor. By the time of her death on May 29, 1939, she had become an important figure in the religious and cultural life of her country. In his homily at her canonization in 2003, Pope John Paul II hailed her as “an apostle of the new evangelization, demonstrating a constant timeliness, creativity, and the effectiveness of gospel love by her life and action...From her we can learn to put into practice every day the ‘new’ commandment of love.”

“It is not enough to pray, ‘Thy Kingdom come,’ but to work, so that the Kingdom of God will exist among us today.”

Sr. Ursula Lebochowska

SPIRITUAL REFLECTIONS

Ancient Math and Mystery of Love

Overheard on the Catholic School playground, rising above all the joyful springtime screeching and chatter, the voice of a little boy atop the sprawling playground climber: “Oh year? You don’t even know what two plus two equals.” The height of insult. Some things never change, or change only incrementally over a very long time. Evidently, knowing what one plus one equals is now common kindergarten knowledge. The advance math made me laugh.

A minute later, still smiling, I was inside the church for the funeral of a dear aunt who had died just shy of her eighty-ninth birthday. She’d been a lifelong member of that parish, baptized there – along with her two sisters – in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. One God in Three Persons – ancient math and mystery of love.

Several years before my aunt entered the waters of baptism and the communion of saints (forget trying to wrap your head around that math), her future husband had been baptized at the same font. Only God could have known that years later the two of them would stand before the altar there and be united in marriage. Theirs was a marriage made in heaven, a reflection on earth of the God who blessed it, Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Communion of Love.

Love begets love, and my aunt and uncle were blessed with seven children, bringing each in turn to the same baptismal font. One can imagine the heavenly chorus singing, “Here they come again! O, what joy? And to the newly baptized, “Welcome, dear little one, to the communion of saints!” Each addition a unique and gifted individual. Yet somehow, one individual plus one individual – plus one zillion individuals – still equals One. One love.

Three of my cousins died far too young. My uncle would follow them, also too soon. All four had been commended to God for eternity in that parish. The greater the love, the greater the loss. Addition is easier than subtraction. How could we bear it without the communion of saints? Without the Father who creates, the Son who redeems, and the Spirit who sanctifies. The Love that holds us in this life and leads us to life eternal with those who go before us.

It is never to a distant throng that we sing during the Rite of Final Commendation. And so for my aunt on that beautiful day last May; “Receive her soul, O holy ones, present her now to God most high.”

All was quiet on the playground as we left church. Back in their classrooms, some of the children were probably learning that one plus one does not always equal two. And perhaps learning a song to accompany the math ever – Ancient and ever-New: Holy, holy, holy, Lord God almighty...God in three Persons, Blessed Trinity.”

Forget trying to wrap your head around the mystery. Only the heart can be drawn there.
