Medicaid formally ends funds for 'sex-rejecting procedures' for minors with final rule

The development formalizes a policy of the Trump administration. The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops has urged government action in this area.

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) announced it has implemented a final rule that formally bans using funds for 'sex-rejecting procedures' for minors, which are drugs and surgeries used to facilitate "gender transitions".

According to a CMS news release, this includes puberty blockers, cross-sex hormones, and surgical operations. It states these medical procedures cause irreversible damage, including infertility, impaired sexual function, diminished bone density, altered brain development, and other physiological effects.

The move formalizes a policy of President Donald Trump's administration to prevent minors from accessing these drugs and surgeries. In January 2025, Trump signed an executive order that instructed agencies to adopt rules to "end the chemical and surgical mutilation of children."

The final rule includes a tapering-off period of up to six months for children who are receiving cross-sex hormones, which allows them to be gradually weaned off the medicine. It does not affect mental health services. "Children deserve our protection, not experimental interventions that pose serious risks and convey no proven benefits," CMS Administrator Dr. Mehmet Oz said in a statement.

"By cutting off federal funds for these sex-rejecting procedures, we're following the science, saving taxpayer dollars, and, most importantly, protecting children from potentially irreversible harm so they can truly flourish," he said.

Rachel N. Morrison, director of the Ethics and Public Policy Center's Administrative State Accountability Project, told EWTN News that government funding should never support "harmful, sterilizing, and often irreversible sex-rejecting procedures."

"I am grateful to CMS and the Trump administration for their efforts to combat gender ideology, protect children from the harms [of]sex-rejecting procedures, and advance policies that reflect a true understanding of the nature of the human person," she said.

Joseph Meaney, past president and senior ethicist for the National Catholic Bioethics Center (NCBC), told EWTN News CMS "should be applauded for putting an end to federal taxpayer funding of transgender procedures on children". "There is a substantial agreement between U.S. government policy and Catholic teaching in this area of healthcare policy," he said.

Father Tadeusz Pacholclzyk, an NCBC senior ethicist, told EWTN News that the implementation of the rules "is very sensible and long overdue". "Countless youth have already been railroaded along this path, placing themselves at great risk and damaging their bodies as they struggle with this confusion," Pacholczyk said. "Once a young person steps onto that train, they often become 'regular business customers," with a lifelong dependence on the continued prescribing of hormones and additional cycles of expensive surgeries".

He said tax money should not pay for "a hysterectomy on a girl who wants to live as a boy, nor to provide breast implants into a boy who thinks he is a girl". He said children "deserve far better from the world of medicine and psychiatry". "They are entitled to solid psychotherapy as a means of assisting them to reintegrate their subjective gender identity with their objective lifelong biology so they can recognize and embrace the beautiful gift of the biological sex they have been endowed with from the beginning." Pacholczyk said.

The Church's position

The U. S. Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) referred to EWTN News to a February 17 letter to CMS, which said the proposed ban on federal funding "aligns with Catholic teaching on the nature of the human person" and "reflects true distinctions between the sexes."
"Rejection of our God-given bodies, such as by modifying them to appear as the opposite sex, is a grave matter, and when done with full knowledge and complete consent, is a grave sin," the letter states.

In November 2025, the USCCB published a new edition of its "Ethical and Religious Directives for Catholic Health Care Services" guidelines, which prohibit Catholic instutions from providing treatments that "aim not to restore but rather to alter the fundamental order of the human body in its form or function" such as "interventions that aim to transform sexual characteristics of a human body into those of the opposite sex (or to nullify sexual characteristics…)".

These are the issues being raised and addressed: State by State *In New York, a jury awarded a detransitioned woman $2 million in damages after having been pressured into a double mastectomy when she was a teenager. psychologists ignored the applicable procedures and standards of care when the then-teenager was consulting them.

*Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton filed suit against a nurse practitioner whose organization, "Her Safe Harbor," was shipping chemical abortion drugs across state lines into Texas, in violation of Texas state law.

*Virginia Gov. Abigail Spanberger signed a ballot initiative for the upcoming elections in November, the "Right to Reproductive Freedom Amendment," which, if passed, would establish a state constitutional right to abortion throughout all stages of pregnancy, with limited restrictions.

Federal Courts *A high school pro-life club has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to hear their case after having been censored from putting out a poster with an image of pro-life activists holding signs that said, "Defund Planned Parenthood." The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals had upheld the censorship, hence the appeal to the Supreme Court.

*Right to Life Michigan, among other pro-life groups, filed suit in federal court against Michigan for a new state law that would prohibit discrimination on the basis of "termination of pregnancy." The Alliance Defending Freedom, representing the organizations, argued that the law violates the pro-life organizations' First Amendment rights.

National *The American Medical Association (AMA) and the American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS) modified their positions on "gender-affirming care" for minors, aligning with more recent recommendations to delay surgical interventions until adulthood, amid increasing legal and medical scrutiny, including the jury verdict in the abovementioned Varian v. Einhorn. The ASPS specifically noted the "considerable uncertainty as to the long-term efficacy" of surgical interventions

The National Institutes of Health* (NIH) announced that federal funds will no longer be used for research involving the fetal tissue of aborted babies. The policy will apply to all NIH grants, cooperative agreements, transaction award, research and development contracts, and the NIH Intramural Research Program. *A national campaign has recently launched to overturn the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling in Obergefell v. Hodges, which legalized same sex "marriage" across the nation. The campaign, called "Greater Than," launched by non-profit Them Before Us, focuses on the effects of same sex "marriage" on the children of such unions.

expansion of the Mexico City Policy, which prohibits the use of federal funds for non-governmental organizations that promote or perform abortion overseas. The Policy now extends to non-governmental organizations that promote or perform services related to gender ideology.

*The U.S. Department of Education released new guidance reminding public schools to allow expressions of faith, including prayer, in public schools, so long as the school itself does not engage in religious activities or speech as an institution.

*The Pregnant Students' Rights Act failed to pass in the Senate after passing in the House of Representatives. The Act would have required colleges to provide information to pregnant college students about how to bring their pregnancies to term while still remaining in school.

Internation alA Canadian member of Parliament introduced a bill that would repeal a part of the Medical Aid in Dying (MAID) program that would prohibit from participating in the program those whose sole basis for applying to the program is mental illness. St. Faustina's Prayer for Sinners

O Jesus, eternal Truth, our Life, I call upon You and I beg Your mercy for poor sinners. O sweetest Heart of my Lord, full of pity and unfathomable mercy, I plead with You for poor sinners. O Most Sacred Heart, Fount of Mercy from which gush forth rays of inconceivable graces upon the entire human ra ce, I beg of You light for poor sinners. O Jesus, be mindful of Your own bitter Passion and do not permit the loss of souls redeemed at so dear a price of Your most precious B lood. O Jesus, when I consider the great price of Your Blood, I rejoice at its immensity, for one drop alone would have been enough for the salvation of all sinners. Although sin is an abyss of wickedness and ingratitude, the price paid for us can never be equalled. Therefore, let every soul trust in the Passion of the Lord, and place its hope in His mercy. God will not deny His mercy to anyone. Heaven and earth may change, but God's mercy will never be exhausted. Oh, what immense joy burns in my heart whe n I contemplate Your incomprehensi

ble goodness, O

esus! I desire to bring all sinners to Your feet that they may glorify Your mercy throughout endless ages (Diary, 72).

You expired, Jesus, but the source of life gushed forth for souls, and the ocean of mercy opened up for the whole world. O Fount of Life, unfathomable Divine Mercy, envelop the whole world and empty Yourself out upon us.

(Repeat three times)

O Blood and Water, which gushed forth from the Heart of Jesus as a fount of mercy for us, I trust in You!

3. Our Father

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy name: Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, Amen.

4. Hail Mary

Hail Mary, full of grace. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou amongst women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus, Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death, Amen.

5. The Apostles' Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of Heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, Our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried; He descended into hell; on the third day He rose again from the dead; He ascended into Heaven, and is se ated at the right hand of God the Father almighty; from there He will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Spirit, th e holy Catholic Church,

the Communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the Resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.

6. The Eternal Father

Eternal Father, I offer You the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Your Dearly Beloved Son, Our Lord, Jesus Christ, in atonement for our sins and those of the whole world.

7. On the 10 Small Beads of Each Decade

For the sake of His sorrowful Passion, have mercy on us and on the whole world.

8. Repeat for the remaining decades
