The National Catholic Bioethics Center

LIVING A CATHOLIC LIFE
What is Catholic Bioethics?

Catholic bioethics is the study of ethical, moral, and theological issues arising in health care and biomedical research through the lens of Catholic moral teaching. Bioethics began as a separate discipline only in the early 1970s and The National Catholic Bioethics Center (NCBC) was founded in 1972. The world needs education about bioethics because most people still do not know what a bioethicist does. Even some health care professionals have only vague ideas about it.

It does not help that many secular bioethicists make a living out of what I call "writing permission slips". When scientists want to do experiments that involve killing human embryos or performing abortions, some bioethicists with academic credentials are almost always willing to sign off on the activity. Some ethics committees in hospitals rarely deny requests to suspend nutrition and hydration or to approve procedures that the Church could never accept.

A Catholic vision of bioethics is a compassionate and objective search for what is true and good when ethical dilemmas arise in medicine or scientific research. Very sad situations do happen in which a bad outcome cannot be avoided. Some of the most heart-wrenching problems are maternal-fetal conflicts. Despite the best efforts of health care professionals and the remarkable advances of modern medicine cases do occur where saving both the mother and her preborn child is not possible. Many secular bioethicists do not hesitate to approve and even push for abortions in these situations.

Our Catholic bioethics tradition is clear in its principles. A direct attack on the life of an innocent can never be sanctioned or accepted. Compassion and truth go together as we look at what may be done morally. A classic example is the case where a pregnant mother has a cancerous uterine tumor alongside the child in her womb. If the baby cannot be delivered with a chance of survival, and the only effective medical treatment is a hysterectomy, this may be an ethical choice for the parents to make. The hysterectomy would not be a direct abortion, because the object and the objective nature of the act is to heal the mother by removing her uterus and the cancer within it. That her preborn child will not survive can be fore seen, but it is not intended. One way to check the objective nature of the act is to note that the exact same procedure would be performed if the woman were not pregnant. Clearly, the unacceptable practice of bringing about a good end through an evil act is not part of this scenario.

care from physical abuse and even show disrespect for the human person.

Cutting off or withholding some basic care, on the other hand-or giving unnecessarily high doses of pain medication-can cross the line between simply allowing a person to die peacefully and euthanasia.

When providing an ethics consultation, Catholic bioethicists should have an attitude of prayerful service. The persons in need of counsel might be going through the most painful crisis of t heir lives. They could be confused or emotionally raw. The good Catholic bioethicist should be a pillar of support and have a good understanding of the ethically relevant scientific and medical facts. Most of all, ethicists need an excellent grasp of the Church's Magisterium and her teachings regarding bioethical issues. In some disputed areas a definitive Church teaching has yet to be formulated, so we must explain that state of affairs to the person who contacts us. Then we can share the applicable principles for making a good choice and finally provide the best counsel we can. Those we assist need not only knowledge but God's grace to discern the right path.

Bioethics can be a remarkable force for good and for the Gospel of Life. When it is perverted, however, it loses the vital connection that promotes the unique dignity of the human person in a compassionate and truthful way. Pope St. John Paull II understood the great temptations of our age. Some scientists and doctors are tempted to play God and disregard our just limitations. Good bioethicists are guardians of what is sacred and inviolable in our brothers and sisters.

Adapted from "My Vision for Bioethics" *August 7, 2020). The Moral Mind, by Joseph Meaney

Faithful Catholic bioethicists must assist the laity and clergy in moral decision making in difficult ethical situations. This support is all the more necessary when patients or family members are distraught and vulnerable in response to physical suffering or emotional distress. People can be manipulated into bad decisions. They need sold and morally clear advice.

A wise priest friend of mine told me, "It is hard enough being a good Catholic. We should not place unnecessary burdens beyond what is morally required." Jesus condemned strongly what he saw in his own day and age, when the Pharisees piled heavy burdens on others but did not life a finger to help. Bioethicsists can help people to discern what is proportionate and what is disproportionate in medical care. Some interventions are burdensome and provide very little benefit. In the most extreme circumstances, frequent violent resuscitations or certain medical interventions can cross the line, that separates health doctors and psychologists ignored the applicable procedures and standards of care when the then-teenager was consulting them.

These are the issues being raised and addressed:

*Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton filed suit against a nurse practitioner whose organization, "Her Safe Harbor," was shipping chemical abortion drugs across state lines into Texas, in violation of Texas state law.

*Virginia Gov. Abigail Spanberger signed a ballot initiative for the upcoming elections in November, the "Right to Reproductive Freedom Amendment," which, if passed, would establish a state constitutional right to abortion throughout all stages of pregnancy, with limited restrictions.

Federal Courts *A high school pro-life club has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to hear their case after having been censored from putting out a poster with an image of pro-life activists holding signs that said, "Defund Planned Parenthood." The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals had upheld the censorship, hence the appeal to the Supreme Court.

*Right to Life Michigan, among other pro-life groups, filed suit in federal court against Michigan for a new state law that would prohibit discrimination on the basis of "termination of pregnancy." The Alliance Defending Freedom, representing the organizations, argued that the law violates the pro-life organizations' First Amendment rights.

National *The American Medical Association (AMA) and the American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS) modified their positions on "gender-affirming care" for minors, aligning with more recent recommendations to delay surgical interventions until adulthood, amid increasing legal and medical scrutiny, including the jury verdict in the abovementioned Varian v. Einhorn. The ASPS specifically noted the "considerable uncertainty as to the long-term efficacy" of surgical interventions

The National Institutes of Health* (NIH) announced that federal funds will no longer be used for research involving the fetal tissue of aborted babies. The policy will apply to all NIH grants, cooperative agreements, transaction award, research and development contracts, and the NIH Intramural Research Program. *A national campaign has recently launched to overturn the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling in Obergefell v. Hodges, which legalized same sex "marriage" across the nation. The campaign, called "Greater Than," launched by non-profit Them Before Us, focuses on the effects of same sex "marriage" on the children of such unions.

federal government's expansion of the Mexico City Policy, which prohibits the use of federal funds for non-governmental organizations that promote or perform abortion overseas. The Policy now extends to non-governmental organizations that promote or perform services related to gender ideology.

*The U.S. Department of Education released new guidance reminding public schools to allow expressions of faith, including prayer, in public schools, so long as the school itself does not engage in religious activities or speech as an institution.

*The Pregnant Students' Rights Act failed to pass in the Senate after passing in the House of Representatives. The Act would have required colleges to provide information to pregnant college students about how to bring their pregnancies to term while still remaining in school.

InternationalA Canadian member of Parliament introduced a bill that would repeal a part of the Medical Aid in Dying (MAID) program that would prohibit from participating in the program those whose sole basis for applying to the program is mental illness. The bill has the support of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, and it comes as experts warn that there seems to be a link between MAID and an increase in organ donations.

*President Trump announced his intention to hold an event on May 17, 2026, entitles "Rededicate 250 National Jubilee of Prayer, Praise, and Thanksgiving." Which will focus on rededicating the United States as "under God."

St. Faustina's Prayer for Sinners

O Jesus, eternal Truth, our Life, I call upon You and I beg Your mercy for poor sinners. O sweetest Heart of my Lord, full of pity and unfathomable mercy, I plead with You for poor sinners. O Most Sacred Heart, Fount of Mercy from which gush forth rays of inconceivable graces upon the entire human race, I beg of You light for poor sinners. O Jesus, be mindful of Your own bitter Passion and do not permit the loss of souls redeemed at so dear a price of Your most precious Blood. O Jesus, when I consider the great price of Your Blood, I rejoice at its immensity, for one drop alone would have been enough for the salvation of all sinners. Although sin is an abyss of wickedness and ingratitude, the price paid for us can never be equalled. Therefore, let every soul trust in the Passion of the Lord, and place its hope in His mercy. God will not deny His mercy to anyone. Heaven and earth may change, but God's mercy will never be exhausted. Oh, what immense joy burns in my heart when I contemplate Your incomprehensible goodness, O Jesus! I desire to bring all sinners to Your feet that they may glorify Your mercy throughout endless ages (Diary, 72).

You expired, Jesus, but the source of life gushed forth for souls, and the ocean of mercy opened up for the whole world. O Fount of Life, unfathomable Divine Mercy, envelop the whole world and empty Yourself out upon us. (Repeat three times)

O Blood and Water, which gushed forth from the Heart of Jesus as a fount of mercy for us, I trust in You!

3. Our Father

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy name: Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, Amen.

4. Hail Mary

Hail Mary, full of grace. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou amongst women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus, Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death, Amen.

5. The Apostles' Creed

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of Heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, Our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried; He descended into hell; on the third day He rose again from the dead; He ascended into Heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God the Father almighty; from there He will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy Catholic Church, the Communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the Resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.

6. The Eternal Father

Eternal Father, I offer You the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Your Dearly Beloved Son, Our Lord, Jesus Christ, in atonement for our sins and those of the whole world.

7. On the 10 Small Beads of Each Decade

For the sake of His sorrowful Passion, have mercy on us and on the whole world.

8. Repeat for the remaining decades
